Langley Design were delighted to work with S G Civil Engineering again and welcomed the opportunity to work locally. A prestigious client in BMW, Langley were tasked with providing a covered area for the employees to take lunch breaks and encourage outdoor dining. The customer wanted something to soften the external area as they already had metal picnic tables in place. BMW wanted to give the employees the option of covered dining whether that be shade from the sun or more commonly in England the rain. A 6m x 6m Timber and Steel canopy was chosen to cover the tables. The client decided to go with a clear roof to let the majority of light through but these canopies can come in range of different colours which have now been supplied all over the UK.
