Prologis Park Hams Hall DC2, DC3 & DC4 are new manufacturing and distribution centres located centrally in the West Midlands offering excellent transport links to the whole UK with motorways and airports within easy reach. Offering in excess of 450,000 square feet of space across the three units, Langley Design were delighted to bring their extensive street furniture experience to the table for the main contractor, Winvic and landscape architects, BCA Design; offering a range of cost effective and elegant solutions for the sites external spaces.

We provided a range of benches and seats in arrangements to compliment the amenity spaces soft & hard landscaping, based on our popular Langley LBN121 & LST110's. Manufactured in our durable Treated Class 4 Redwood and Dark Oak stained to give a more premium look without the associated additional cost, the timber tops are mounted on galvanised and powder coated steel loop legs allowing the furniture to be colour co-ordinated to match other elements on the project. The seating areas were complimented with our Malford MPL202 planter walling system, available in modules and assembled on site affixed to a concrete base below, the sections can be made in various heights and adapted to project specific shapes and sizes when required. Offering a more robust finish and urban look than a traditional timber planter, the MPL202 is an increasingly popular option across a range of sectors and projects due to its easy of delivery and assembly. Finally, our Malford MPG NS pergola, provided with stainless steel tensile climbing wires to allow planting to grow up and over the unit, completed the externals and will provide a sheltered area to sit in the future, with its clean linear design to match the aesthetic of the benching and planters.

Langley Design offer a full range of street furniture products, in a variety of materials & finishes and pride ourselves on our problem solving solutions. If you have a requirement on a current or future project please don't hesitate to get in touch with our experienced team.
