» "We have worked with Neil on projects for three of our play areas which were completed at different times. Neil was very professional but also had the skill of building a strong relationship with us as a customer, ensuring all of our requirements and needs were listened to. Neil guided us and offered balanced information, often prioritising what was best for us rather than just selling the most expensive option. Neil has helped us to resolve any small issues and we, along with the children, remain delighted with the finished project in all play areas. A fantastic customer experience all round."
